Discover The Rock Islands Of
PALAU-MICRONESIA

Special Group Departure

Palau is an archipelago of over 500 islands, forming part of the Micronesia region in the western Pacific Ocean. Palau's warm tropical waters are legendary amongst divers for their dramatic sheer walls rising from the depths to within inches of the surface and capped with thriving coral reefs.

World renowned for its' marine bio-diversity and abundance of large pelagic animals, Palau also offers avid wreck divers one of Micronesia's largest collections of WWII shipwrecks. From current swept plateaus to sheltered coral gardens, Palau offers a wonderful range of diving for every level of interest and skill. The majority of diving is drift diving along the walls, plateaus and coral gardens of the outer reef, with the dive boat following along from the surface to meet you upon ascent.

Experience the sites that make Palau one of the top dive destinations in the world: the sharks of Blue Corner, the manta rays of Devilfish City and German Channel, and the coral reefs and stunning drop offs teeming with marine life.

Palau Pacific Resort - encompassing 64 acres of lush tropical gardens and a pristine white sand beach, Palau Pacific Resort invites guests to experience an unmatched oceanfront getaway on the western shore of Ngerkebesang Island in the Republic of Palau. The secluded luxury resort offers 165 villa-style guest rooms, suites, and over-water bungalows with island-inspired décor, private balconies or terraces and up-scale amenities.
